

About us

The Red Fox Group (Red Fox) is a data, analytics and technology firm based in Melbourne.

Trading as SamplePages, Red Fox Data is the market leader in wholesale data provision for the market research industry. We are the foundation of most market, social and political insight generation within Australia. Our team has also created one of Australia's most exciting data management platforms, known as SwiftFox.

The Red Fox Group is a values-driven organisation which prides itself on inclusivity and caring for our team.

Your work will support Red Fox's expansion, and ensure our clients are discovering powerful new ways to achieve their goals. You will also be at the heart of Australia's market research industry and will have the opportunity to kickstart your career development.

What are we looking for?

We are looking for a Graduate Analyst to join our Client Experience Team

Upon completion of your training, this full-time role allows for a hybrid working option and you can expect a competitive salary.

We are open to applicants from any discipline or background, though given the nature of our work, we are particularly interested in hearing from candidates with a background in business, analytics, communications or data science.

You will enjoy working as part of a growing team, with exposure to various roles and responsibilities. Opportunities will be presented daily to show initiative and display excellent communication and organisation skills and show attention to detail.

Your responsibilities as a Graduate Analyst:

- Client Relationship Building and Management
 - Maintaining and strengthening our existing relationships
 - Growing and developing new relationships with clients
- Providing representative and high-quality research samples to our clients
- Learning and adapting to localised systems
- Working with clients and the team to help develop and expand our current services
- Undertaking internal analytics projects to support our business development

Some other benefits:

- Equal opportunity employer
- Competitive salary
- Employee Share Option Scheme

- Generous education budget for staff